1 Introduction

As part of the Trust's statutory and corporate functions, it processes special category data and criminal offence data in accordance with the requirements of Article 9 and 10 of the General Data Protection Regulation ('UK GDPR') and Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018 ('DPA 2018').

Special category data is defined at Article 9 of the UK GDPR as personal data revealing:

- Racial or ethnic origin
- Political opinions
- Religious or philosophical beliefs
- Trade union membership
- Genetic data
- Biometric data (where used for identification purposes)
- Data concerning physical or mental health, or
- Data concerning a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation.

In addition, the Trust and its constituent schools treat Pupil Premium/Free School Meal Status as if it is Special Category data as recommended by the Department of Education as the Trust recognises that data subjects expect this information to be particularly private.

Article 10 of the UK GDPR covers processing in relation to criminal convictions and offences. This includes personal data relating to the alleged commission of offences or proceedings for an offence committed or alleged to have been committed, including sentencing. This is collectively referred to as 'criminal offence data'.

Some of the legal conditions for processing special category and criminal offence data requires the Trust / school to have an Appropriate Policy Document ('APD') in place, setting out and explaining Trust / school procedures for securing compliance with the data protection principles and to have policies regarding the retention and erasure of such personal data.

This document satisfies that requirements of Schedule 1, Part 4 of the DPA 2018 and explains the Trust's processing of special category and criminal offence data.

In addition, it provides some further information about the Trust / school processing of special category and criminal offence data where a policy document isn't a specific requirement. The information supplements the Trust's privacy notices (which are available on the Trust website).

2 Conditions for processing special category and criminal offence data

2.1 Processing special categories of personal data

The Trust / school processes special categories of personal data under the following UK GDPR Articles:

Examples of Trust / school processing that require consent include pupil and staff dietary requirements or consent for pupil pastoral support.

- Article 9(2)(b) – processing is necessary in the field of employment law.

An example of this processing includes staff sickness absences.

Examples of the processing of criminal offence data include pre-employment checks and declarations by an employee in line with contractual obligations or being informed about a parent's criminal convictions where that may affect the safeguarding or wellbeing of relevant pupils. School's may also process CCTV data which may include footage of alleged criminal offence data. School's process this under the Data Protection Act 2018 Schedule 1, Part 2 subsection 10 and Part 3 subsection 36 (substantial public interest in relation to any criminal category data).

The Trust regularly reviews its accountability measures and updates or amends them when required.

Principle (a): lawfulness, fairness and transparency

Processing personal data must be lawful, fair and transparent. It is only lawful if and to the extent it is based on law and either the data subject has given their consent for the processing, or the processing meets at least one of the conditions in Schedule 1 of the DPA 2018.

The Trust / school provide clear and transparent information about why it processes personal data including its lawful basis for processing in Trust privacy notices, in the Trust Data Protection Policy and this policy document.

Trust / school processing for purposes of substantial public interest is necessary for the exercise of the functions conferred on the Trust / school by the legislation referred to in the Trust's main Data Protection Policy document.

The Trust processing for the purposes of employment relates to its obligations as an employer.

Principle (b): purpose limitation

The Trust / schools are authorised by law to process personal data for these purposes. The Trust / school may process personal data collected for any one of these purposes (whether by the Trust / school or another controller), for any of the other purposes here, providing the processing is necessary and proportionate to that purpose.

If the Trust / school is sharing data with another controller, the Trust / school will document that they are authorised by law to process the data for their purpose.

The Trust / school will not process personal data for purposes incompatible with the original purpose it was collected for.

Principle (d): accuracy

Where the Trust / school becomes aware that personal data is inaccurate or out of date, having regard to the purpose for which it is being processed, the Trust / school will take every reasonable step to ensure that data is erased or rectified without delay. If the Trust / school decides not to either erase or rectify it, for example because the lawful basis relied on to process the data means these rights don't apply, the Trust / school will document its decision.

Principle (e): storage limitation

All special category data processed by the Trust / school for the purpose of employment or substantial public interest is, unless retained longer for archiving purposes, retained for the periods set out in the Trust's Retention Schedule. The Trust determines the retention period for this data based on its legal obligations and the necessity of its retention for business needs. The Trust's retention schedule is reviewed regularly and updated when necessary.

Principle (f): integrity and confidentiality (security)

Electronic information is processed within the Trust's and each school's secure network. Hard copy information is processed in line with Trust security procedures. Electronic systems and physical storage have appropriate access controls applied. The systems used to process personal data allow the Trust / school to erase or update personal data at any point in time where appropriate.
